January 13, 2022

Dear Parents/Guardians:

Due to the increased number of staff absences, we cannot cover those positions as needed. Therefore, Friday, January 14, 2022, will be an Alternative Method of Instruction (AMI) Day. Activities will continue as scheduled unless otherwise notified.

What does that mean for students and parents?

An Alternative Methods of Instruction (AMI) Day is utilized when meeting in person is not possible, but learning continues via alternate instruction methods. The day is counted as a regular in-person day, and students earn attendance by completing assignments given by their teacher(s).

How will I know the assignments my student(s) need to complete?

Assignments for AMI Days will be communicated by the student's teacher(s) via email, SeeSaw, and/or Canvas.

What about Adventure Club?

There is no Adventure Club on AMI Days.

We do apologize for this inconvenience and will let you know as soon as possible if an additional AMI day(s) is needed.

We appreciate your understanding and support.
Andy
